

Thursday, June 20, 2013

NYDailyNews.com / Brooklyn

Tweet SIGN IN

Jobs Classifieds Contests Reader Offers Home Delivery Services Apps

Search site

SITE | WEB | BLOGS

news politics sports showbiz opinion living photos video autos

More of Local: EVENTS | BRONX | BROOKLYN | QUEENS | UPTOWN | EDUCATION | WEATHER | DEATH NOTICES | NEW YORK PICS

BROOKLYN

Controversial project involving Kristal Auto Mall owner Lilaahar (Sammy) Bical quietly breaks ground on Mill Basin site

FBI investigating whether state Sen. John Sampson broke laws for taking $10,000 to assist car dealer's acquisition of parcel near Four Sparrow Marsh and Belt Pkwy.

BY REUVEN BLAU / NEW YORK DAILY NEWS

THURSDAY, JUNE 20, 2013, 5:11 PM

In April, the Bloomberg administration announced it had sold the 110,000-square-foot parcel near the Four Sparrow Marsh and the Belt Parkway to Brooklyn auto dealer Lilaahar (Sammy) Bical, owner of Kristal Auto Mall, one of the biggest Cadillac dealers on the East Coast, who Bical paid state Sen. John Sampson $10,000 to help put deal in motion.

Construction on a project that includes a major car dealership has quietly started on a controversial piece of land in Mill Basin twice tied to scandal-scarred politicians who have tried to help developers buy the land from the city.

In April, the Bloomberg administration announced it had sold the 110,000-square-foot parcel near the Four Sparrow Marsh and the Belt Parkway to Brooklyn auto dealer Lilaahar (Sammy) Bical, owner of Kristal Auto Mall, one of the biggest

RELATED STORIES

Mill Basin Kosher Deli perfects the art of the sandwich

Mill Basin man finds hoax bomb in screen door, throws it down sewer

Barclays Center set to dazzle at Brooklyn's new

MOST POPULAR

MOST READ MOST SHARED

- 1 Bronx teacher busted for raping student, 10, said to have sent her email saying 'I was too rough. Sorry'
- 2 'You just move into action — you don't really think about it': Joe Torre's daughter saves falling baby
- 3 Allegedly fondled tourist sues Duane Reade for $40 million
- 4 Pimps walk on sex trafficking charges
- 5 Driver charged with DWI in East Village crash
- 6 Gang members caught robbing drug dealers: cops
- 7 Spike Lee supports Madison Square Garden staying put
- 8 Mob wake is trouble for wiseguy out on bail
- 9 Queens teacher convicted in abuse
- 10 Hamill: A son's journey through grammar school ends as it began

FREE

EST CITY APP IN THE WORLD!

NEW OFFLINE READING FEATURE added so stories can be read on the subway!

Cadillac dealers on the East Coast.

Bical was helped in his bid to obtain the land after paying tainted state Sen. John Sampson (D-Canarsie) a $10,000 "retainer fee" to help arrange a sit-down with Bloomberg administration officials, the News reported last month.

Those meetings occurred in early 2012, and this past March the city sold him the land for $4.2 million.

Sampson and his lawyer, Zachary Carter, did not respond to calls seeking comment.

The FBI is investigating whether Sampson broke the law by seeking and receiving retainer fees from Bical, and another businessman, in an unrelated case, who sought his assistance in dealing with the government, sources said.

Originally, the city planned to sell the land to Forest City Ratner to build a mini mall. That plan was scuttled in September 2011 after a Forest City Ratner official was revealed to have asked disgraced former state Sen. Carl Kruger for state funds, according to a criminal complaint.

As part of the new deal, the city also sold Toys R Us the land it currently occupies for $13 million.

The first part of construction, which has just begun, entails carving out a spot for a new parking lot for the toy store, which park advocates charge is being built on protected marsh land. The expanded car dealership will later be built on the old Toys R Us parking lot, city officials said.

Conservation groups and park advocates plan to sue to block the city's sale of the land on the grounds that it lacked proper state approval.

RELATED: FBI INVESTIGATING SAMPSON'S FEES CHARGED TO BUSINESSMEN

The Bloomberg administration maintains the area is not park land and insists the project will help create new jobs at a long-underused location near the southern end of Flatbush Ave.

"This project will lead to a $30 million private investment, as well as new construction jobs and additional permanent jobs for the Mill Basin community," said Economic Development Corporation spokesman Patrick Muncie.

He added that all aspects of the project have gone through the public review process. Critics of the plan point out that the review occurred before the Sampson ties surfaced.

Park advocates also contend that entire area is protected park land.

They cite an official Parks Department "Four Sparrow Marsh Preserve 66.5 acres" sign that used to hang where the Toys R Us parking lot is now being built, as well as several old city park maps.

There are also records showing the land was transferred to the Parks Department in 1994 and dedicated as Wildlife Forever in 1997, according to Geoffrey Croft, president of New York City Park Advocates.

"How much lower can these guys get? Destroying part of a bird sanctuary for an auto mall? And on top of that now they are trying to claim it's not park land?" Croft said.

Still, a key local city lawmaker backs the project, noting it went through a long public approval process.

"The car dealership is not on Four Sparrow Marsh, the marshland itself is not being touched," said City Councilman Lew Fidler (D-Mill Basin).

But that has done little to allay environmentalist's concerns.

"They keep giving away public parks to private developers, and the public knows little to nothing about it, and they just pretend it wasn't park land," fumed Brooklyn Bird Club President Rob Jett.

rblau@nydailynews.com

Crossroads of the World

First look at the $76 million Barclays Center subway station

powered by Inform

EDITOR'S PICKS

Developer sees apartments on tap for Rheingold Brewery site in Bushwick

A Brooklyn-based developer hopes to build

House sinks farm bill that cuts $2B in food stamps

WASHINGTON — A sweeping farm bill that would have cut $2 billion a year from food stamps was

Ex-inmate grateful for Gandolfini friendship

Late, great actor James Gandolfini gave wrongly convicted Marty Tangleff

MTA pick gets OK

Transit veteran Tom Prendergast is on track to becoming Metropolitan Transportation Authority chairman. Prendergast - nominated by Gov. Cuomo

UFA head: city to admit to slower fire responses

The head of the firefighters union said city officials will testify at a City Council hearing Friday that fire

Controller Liu renews claim he worked in sweatshop

After taking fire for stretching the truth in his 2009 campaign, City

Ray's DeLuca wins Daily News coaching honor

There is a wealth of pressure that comes with replacing a longtime coach, someone who spent the

Palacios is News' baseball player of the year

When Josh Palacios transferred from Xaverian to Telecomm for his junior year, he had lofty goals that

SEE IT: Twins ballboy makes AMAZING catch

Somebody get this kid a uniform. A ballboy at Thursday's Twins-White Sox game in Minnesota

Construction's Rodriguez wins News' softball player of year honor

It's hard to find a PSAL stat category in which Britney

POST A COMMENT »

COMMENTS

See All Comments

[\[Discussion Guidelines\]](#)

Show more comments

ADS BY YAHOO!

Forlan comes to Uruguay's rescue against Nigeria

Diego Forlan celebrated his 100th appearance for Uruguay in style, setting up one goal then scoring the

Migliaccio wins News softball coaching honor

To beat a dominant and wickedly talented team such as Tottenham, an opponent must possess more than

Brooklyn teacher saves unconscious 7-year-old

Teacher Joseph Usatch makes more than history come alive at his Brooklyn

BBQ champ crowned

Once again, Tony Longobardi smoked the competition. The Staten Island man defended his title as his Legendary Flank

Weiner: City workers should pay 10% of salaries to health care

Anthony Weiner rolled out an ambitious health care

Pop up pool returns

The city is set to open Brooklyn Bridge's "Pop-Up" pool again this summer on June 27, the same day as all other city pools.

Staten Island Yankees Ticket Package with All You Can Eat Burgers, Ho...

BE THE FIRST TO KNOW, GET READER OFFERS EMAIL!

Email Address

SIGN UP

DAILY NEWS PHOTOGRAPHERS

DAILY NEWS PIX BROOKLYN

From Coney Island to the Brooklyn Bridge, the Daily News has decades of classic photos of Brooklyn.

BUY A PRINT

NEW YORKVIDEO

Unfair NYC Fines

Media Kit Autos Home Delivery Newsletters Businesses Place an Ad About our Ads Contact Us FAQ's Feeds Site Map

Use of this website signifies your agreement to the Terms of Service and Privacy Policy.
© Copyright 2013 NYDailyNews.com. All rights reserved.